GAIETY OF SPRING INTERPRETED IN THE NEW MODES

ROUND THE SHOPS.

[By "EVE."]

Lane, Crawford's.—Although there is more latitude in line, and evening dresses in particular are not so insistent upon a slenderness which is almost leanness, this does not mean that carelessness about the figure is permissible. The properly fitted garment is absolutely comfortable as it has only to agree with the figure. I spent a good part of yesterday afternoon examining the latest ideas in "Gossard" and "Tree" corsets at Lane, Crawford's. These are not so very different from those we saw last month, but there are a few improvements. "Miss Simplicity," a delightful style in corded silk, has the corse lace brassiere attached and coming down low at the back. Then there is the latest corset step-in; the weight is negligible, hardly more than that of the average chemise. Another model for the outsize figure has a very long waist-line. For summer or evening wear, net models in flesh colour are seen, while a reducing corset with ining down the front demonstrates one way to get slim.

The Dolly Vardon Hat Shop.—The hats we have been all looking forward to—the Dolly Vardon Hat Shop's new Spring Models—have just been unpacked. Among them are the famous American "Catalina" models while others are American copies of French models by "Patou" and "Agnes." Smaller hats are to be worn. The Louis XVI. shape with the shallow crown and a brim turned back on the crown behind is a leading style. Lacquered straws are used to make them, while felt, velvet, and braid are used for trimming on some models, and on others there are small flower trimmings such as daisies and rose-buds. Very popular is the small hat developed from the beret, the "Marquis," the cloche and the sailor. A perky or a flat bow may be the only trimming, or a feather quill. The up-at-the-back and down-in-the-front movement is accentuated in all hats. The Marquis and "American sailor" shapes are also twisted and turned about in many different ways, and may be trimmed with a bow or a patch of flowers set across the back.

Maison Marnac has just received a wonderful shipment of Paris gowns for the Races. Collars and sleeves show changes in these new Spring models and the small straight military collar is featured on many frocks and coats while others have hood-like drapery and fanciful covers. The attractive new way with collars should please most of us, for it leaves the throat free in the front, and this mode has been approved of at most times. One sees all sorts of fanciful ways with sleeves; the leg-of-mutton variety attempts to come back and the small bishop shape is rather attractive on some models of thin fabric as it lends itself to wrist-trimming in handwork and lace. With the new semi-evening dresses the sleeves are cut all-in-one with the corsage.

Eunice.—Some of the loveliest race frocks are designed and assembled in the new saloon in the Peninsula Hotel Arcade and also at the original establishment at 7, Torres Buildings. Eunice's creations have a distinction all their own and some of the most charming dresses seen locally have come from this charming modiste. Trouseaux are a specialty, and some very attractive ensembles have been turned out for recent fashionable weddings.

LAMP SHADES.

Silk lampshades may be washed in soap and water if the process is undertaken with care. Make a lather with good soap flakes and dip the lampshade up and down. Bead trimmings will take no harm from this treatment. Rinse in lukewarm water and hang out of doors to dry. Any beads should be wiped with a warm, dry cloth before hanging out.

WOMEN'S JOURNALS
100 YEARS AGO.

LIFE IN VICTORIAN DAYS.

A hundred years ago, as now, women had their own magazines which catered specially for feminine tastes. As far back as the reign Queen Anne we hear of a Journal for Ladies, and when the last century opened London had quite a little group of women's periodicals. A few are still extant to-day. We come across them occasionally in old libraries and second-hand shops, and they are worth a few minutes' study, if only to show how absolutely our ideas and tastes have changed during the last century.

Masculine Monsters at the Haberdashers.

In an article dated 1835 the writer is sorely troubled by the number of men serving in shops. "Who," she asks "can pass by a haberdasher's or milliner's shop, and not smile with the utmost contempt at the masculine monsters we see behind the counter serving out a yard and a half of ribbon, or a piece of flannel, and retailing needles and bobbins?"

She goes on to protest violently against "the indecency, to say nothing worse, of allowing men to engage in the trade of staymaking," and adds that she has often blushed to see women "shamelessly resigning their feet to men shoe-makers, who, after handling them at their pleasure, find out a pair to fit them."

Omnibus Rides Fraught With Peril.
A little later mention is made of Shillibee's omnibuses, which had just appeared, and young ladies are expressly warned against the dangers of entering these public conveyances and thus laying themselves open to rudeness and insults from male passengers.

In those days women always walked abroad with a footman in attendance unless they were accompanied by one or more of the stronger sex, and the injunction "When walking between two gentlemen it is not necessary to take the arm of both" recalls the time when every gentleman, as a matter of course, offered his arm to assist our shrinking grandmothers across the streets.

A Discreet Garden Game.

"No young lady worthy of the name would be seen running in public" is a dictum which would rather astonish our game-loving girls, and battledores and shuttlecock, if played discreetly in the garden, is mentioned as "suitable recreation for all misses properly apprehensive of unseemly display or lack of propriety and decorum."

Most of these old-time magazines gave hints on the cultivation of accomplishments. The Ladies' Magazine always presented their readers with a song, with an accompaniment of one note for each hand, so as not to tax the energies too severely. Lengthy instructions are given for painting and drawing "for no lady can consider her education completed until she has produced at least one picture worthy to be framed and glazed."

The Terrible "Blue Stocking."

Reading was not encouraged in those old days, for whereas novels were regarded as pernicious anything more solid tended to "frumpishness" and "blue stocking."

Needlework was the chief occupation for women, and pages and pages were devoted to designs and patterns for fancy work, most of which was manufactured into table centres, anti-macassars, mats, mantel borders and other Victorian horrors. Knitting, tatting, and crochet work were described in detail, and also the making and shaping of various quaint and amazing undergarments.

Ingenious Hobbies.

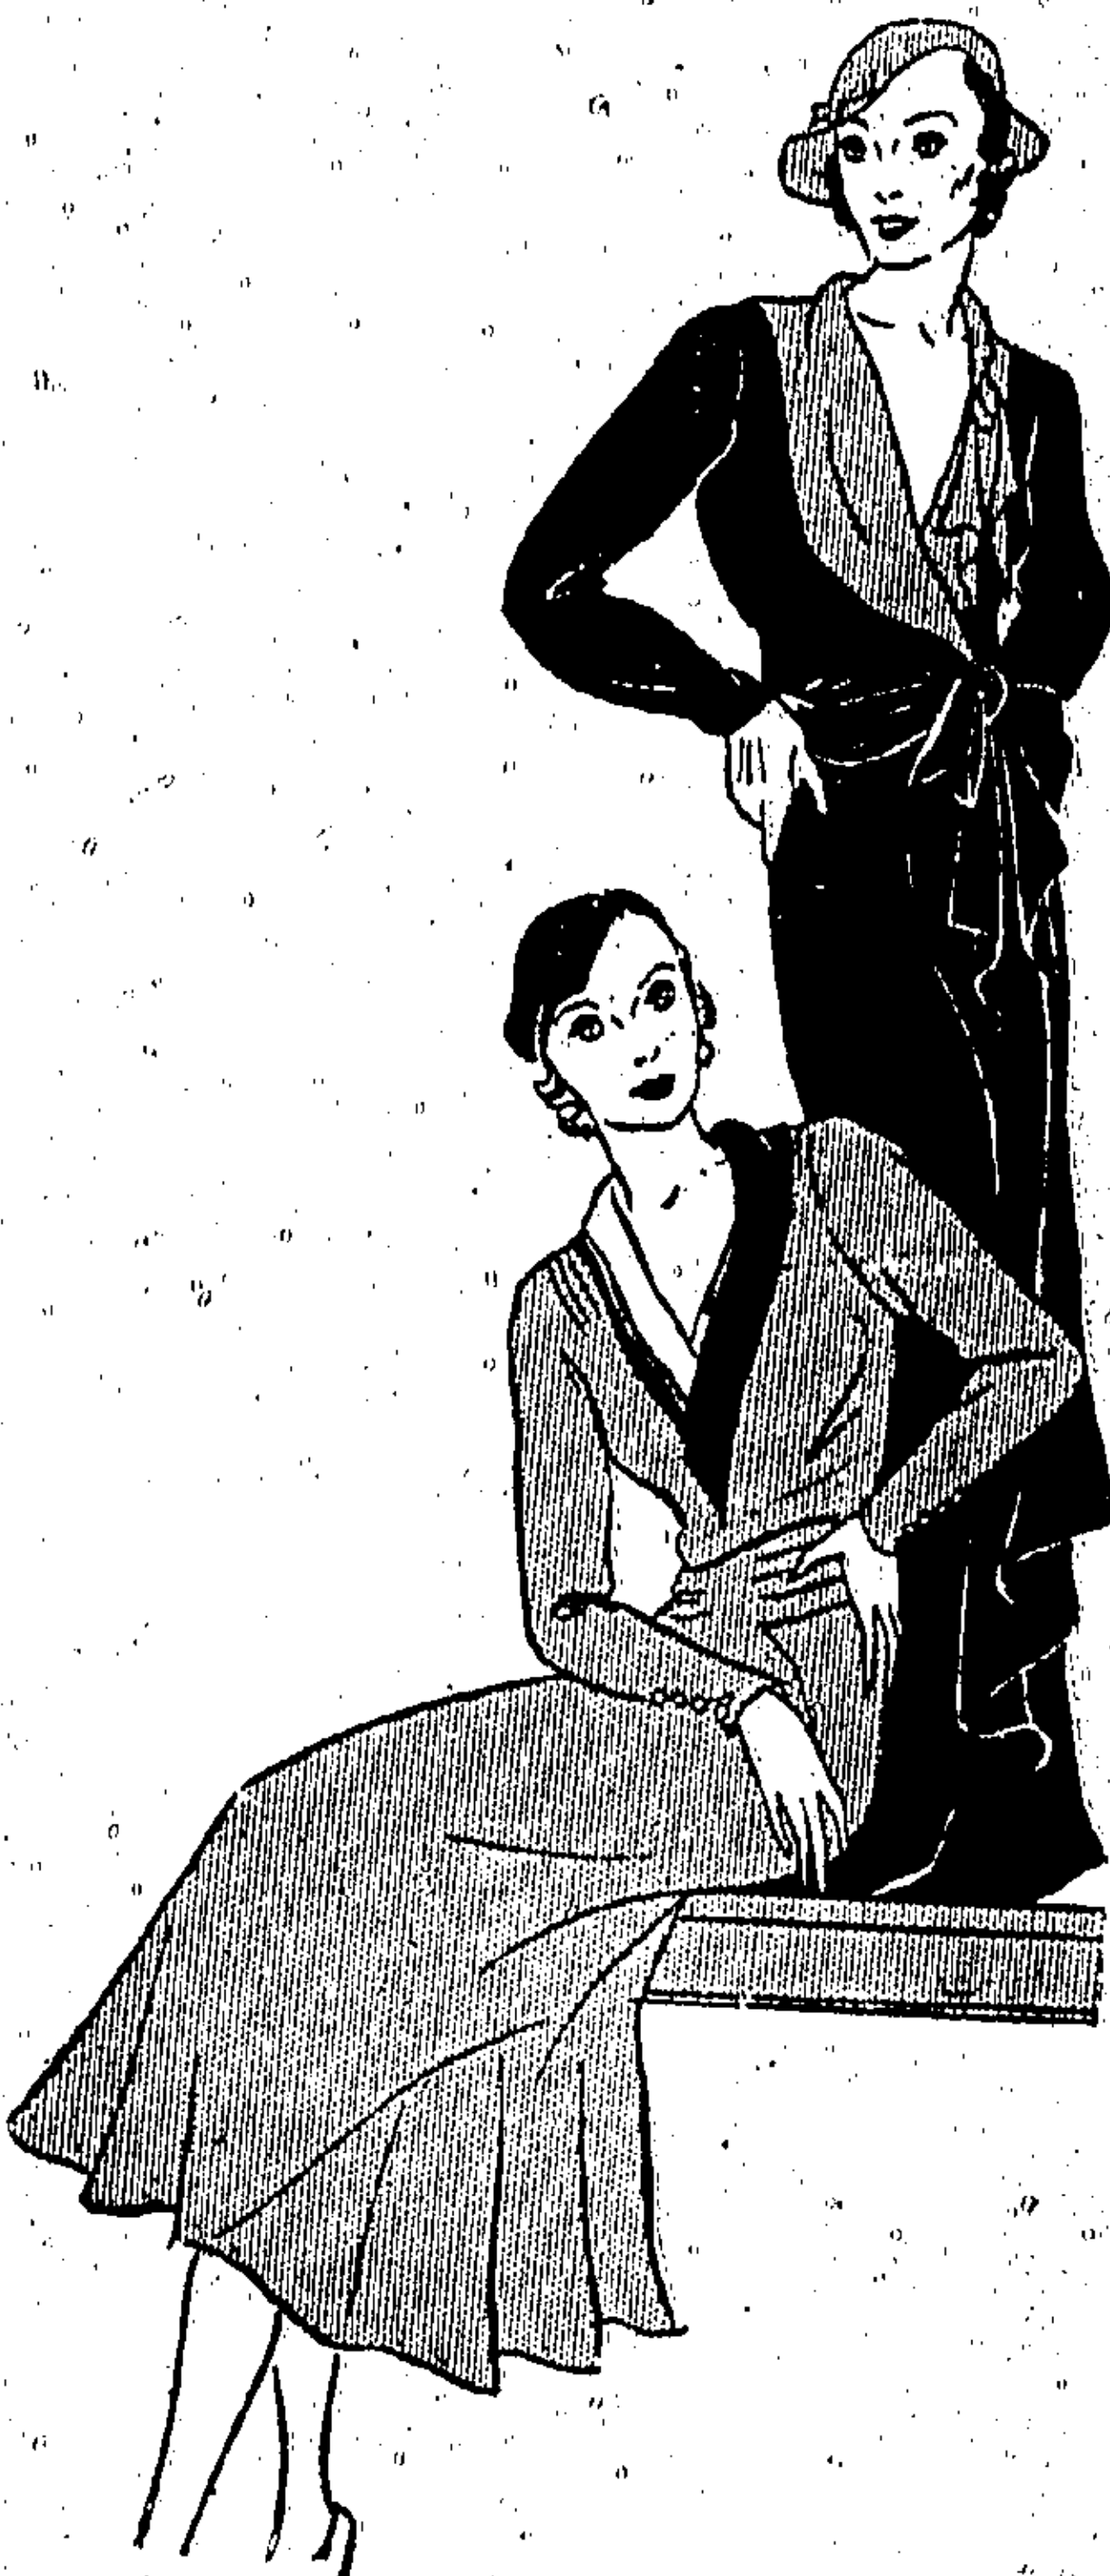

But even needlework palls sometimes, and then young ladies were advised to occupy themselves with quaint and ingenious, if rather useless, little hobbies. Lengthy articles describe in detail how to "skelotonise leaves," make shell boxes, rustic picture frames, crazy china vases, or ribbon hair ties, and how to "gild and decorate plant-pots," "bead table-mats," and "make necklaces out of dried berries."

No wonder these Victorian maidens, who wasted their lives over such futile occupations, were often reduced to poverty in after life. This fact is shown by the number of articles on such subjects as "How Two Sisters Live in London on a Pound a Week," "How We Manage on Sixty Pounds a Year," and "Passing Rich on Forty Pounds a Year."

They would scarcely appeal to our modern girls, who devote their energies not in skilful contrivances to make one penny do the work of two but in supplementing inadequate incomes by their own exertions.

M.L.S.

WOMAN'S PAGE

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE'S
NOTEBOOK.

Apple and celery minced finely with some chopped nuts make a delicious salad to eat with cold meats.

When boiling artichokes, a few drops of vinegar in the water will keep them white.

When meat juices or milk boils over, sprinkle a little salt over the spilled liquid, and there will not be any smell.

When boiling cabbages, drop one or two small pieces of "black crust" bread into the water. This helps to keep down the unpleasant odour. A little vinegar in a saucer placed on top of the stove will help greatly to lessen many of the cooking odours of the kitchen.

Wash and dry celery leaves, place them in a warm oven, turning them now and again; keep in air-tight jars; these are useful for seasoning when celery can no longer be obtained.

TO-DAY'S RECIPES.

Apples in Batter.

Peel and core four apples, place them in a greased pie dish and fill the centres with sugar. Make a batter by beating one egg and half a pint of milk and water, add sufficient flour to make a batter, mixing it carefully so that it will be quite smooth. Add a pinch of salt and two teaspoonfuls of sugar, beat well and pour over the apples. Sprinkle with grated nutmeg and bake for about one hour.

Savoury Vegetables.

One carrot, one parsnip, one onion, stick of celery, one turnip, any mixed herbs or chopped parsley. Put all through a mincer, and with a small piece of butter and a little water cook for an hour. Thicken with a dessert-spoonful of flour. Serve hot on toast or with mashed potatoes well round. Salt and pepper to taste before adding thickening.

FALLEN FEATHERS.

(By Marigold Watney.)

A little crowd had collected in front of the glass case. It was an unusual crowd to find in a museum where people are generally casual and occasionally curious. This crowd was neither one nor the other; it was sorrowful. Now and then someone would speak; "how well I remember that!" or, "do you remember how enchanting..." Then a child's shrill question.

The mother explained; "these are a few things that belonged to Anna Pavlova, she was a great dancer and loved England."

Clothes can be pathetic sometimes, and these were more than usually appealing. The frocks which hung in the glass case were eloquent of a vivid personality which had delighted thousands of people. Now the feathers and finery which had adorned their owner on all the solemnity of the London Museum.

Surely most familiar of all must be the costume worn for the dance of the Dying Swan, the slender feather bodies and the tulle bespangled skirt. The head dress lies beside it, rather tumbled down and rather tarnished paste; with a glittering star stitched firmly into place with thick white cotton.

The Russian Dress.

The Russian dress is emblazoned with emeralds, rubies and sapphires, jewels meant to sparkle behind the footlights, and not to bear the uncompromising light of day.

Most charming of all was a rose-pink silk mantle, with a Victorian muff and poke-bonnet to match. Many of us can remember the dances when these were worn and how they portrayed gay, light-hearted youth in every step.

On the shelf below is an array of gold medals, elaborate presentations and addresses, the rewards of genius and of what is often forgotten—indomitable hard work.

Next to these tributes the modest make-up box strikes an intimate note. Amongst the powder puffs and sticks of paint lie a handful of black hair-pins and a worn gilt thimble. Did this woman, that seemed to us more fairy-like than human, really find time for the domestic occupation of sewing?

CHEAP HOUSES FOR WORKERS.

THREE BEDROOMS FOR 10/- A WEEK.

Houses for the workers, with three bed-rooms, but no parlour, letting at a rental of 10s. a week,
or even less, inclusive of all rates
and taxes.

This is the recommendation of the Minister of Health to all local authorities engaged in building houses for the working classes.

The Minister emphasises, in an official circular, that the critical period through which the country is passing, and present financial circumstances, make it necessary that all expenditure on housing should be used to the greatest possible advantage.

He agrees that houses which can let at rentals within the means of the poorer members of the community are vitally necessary. In spite of the immense building campaign since the war, more houses were wanted. Therefore he urges that local authorities should concentrate on the house which can be built at a low cost and let at a low rental. Experience had shown that the house with three bed-rooms and without a parlour gives ample accommodation for the ordinary family.

Larger Houses Also.

The Minister does not suggest that a rigid rule should be laid down excluding from subsidy all houses of a larger size. He recognises that there may be a special need in certain areas for larger houses to accommodate very large families, but he believes that these houses should be exceptional.

It is hoped that the concentration by local authorities on the small house will widen the field in which private enterprise can operate, and that private enterprise will be induced without subsidy to provide houses of other types.

All local authorities have been asked to limit their new building schemes in accordance with this new idea.

ENGLISH HUNTING— THROUGH AUSTRALIAN EYES.

lief—all these mingling one with the other over chequered England. On the back of a horse, and there alone, is a mere human permitted to become part of the landscape. At last,
as I was contemplating an attack on my sandwich tin, came a run.

And what a run!

HUNGER AND ECSTASY.

Hunger, aching knees, a stitch in the side, and a chilly wind were all forgotten in the ecstasy of the next half-hour. A certain pink-coat had told me previously that he hunted four days a week and knew the countryside as his own front porch, so he did I follow religiously. We galloped along ditches, across metalled roads, through streams, over hedges, post and rails, iron hurdles, sped by gates held open for the second by the crook of a crop, across farmyards, while amazed yokels gaped at mud-spattered people racing past, a grim expression round their mouths and a desperate glint in their eyes.

At last it was over. A panting, heaving, gasping collection of men and beast gathered on a rise, while a happy little fox laughed to himself in a nearby burrow, raising with pride on his magnificent brush.

MOVIE NEWS

On the Screen in Hong Kong.

MAE CLARKE and KENT DOUGLASS in "WATERLOO BRIDGE."

THE AUTHOR OF "WATER-LOO BRIDGE."NOW SHOWING AT CENTRAL THEATRE.Robert Emmett Sherwood, the author of Universal's "Waterloo Bridge," was born in New York, April 4, 1896.Dramatic-editor of the American periodical, "Vanity Fair" and associate-editor of "Life" in later years, he won the title of "the stage and screen's severest critic."
Turning his writing talents toward the stage a few years ago, he wrote "The Road to Rome," "The Love Nest," "The Queen's Husband" and several other distinct hits before "Waterloo Bridge," which had quite a sensational reception.Mr. Sherwood made a special trip to California and personally collaborated with James Whale in bringing "Waterloo Bridge" to the screen. Mr. Sherwood witnessed a considerable part of the work of the distinguished cast engaged in filming it, a cast that includes Mae Clarke, Kent Douglass, Doris Lloyd, Ethel Griffies, Frederic
Kerr, Enid Bennett and Betta Davis.The picture, a story of a girl of the streets in London's war days, is showing at the Central Theatre now.boy friends request and goes with him to a hotel in Britain.
It is the mother's frantic attempt to prevent her daughter from making the same mistake she did which brings the tale to a striking climax.JOAN CRAWFORD SCORES."THE MODERN AGE"
AT THE QUEEN'S.That even in the gayest of society, and the ultra-modern parties of youth, love is the final and dominant factor is the theme of the latest Joan Crawford film, "This Modern Age," which is showing at the Queen's Theatre.In this Parisian picture, Joan Crawford, has even a greater chance than ever before to play the happy-go-lucky modern girl born with a silver spoon in her mouth. As Valentine, living with her youthful mother, Pauline Frederick, and playing with her as if she was of her own generation, Miss Crawford lives a life in which restraint is unknown.She has never known a really serious moment until she meets Bob Blake, played by Neil Hamilton, a young American of high ideals who falls in love with her and tries to make her give up her life of revelry. Until her meeting with him she has been playing around with another American boy of the typical play-boy spirit, Monroe Owsley. He is not the marrying kind and cares only for the pleasure of the moment.Bob's Bostonian parents visit in Paris and come to learn all about their prospective daughter-in-law.
Bob, who knows that Valentine's mother has been "stepping high," insists that Valentine give up her friends and tells her that her mother won't do. This is too much for the girl and she breaks with Bob. Later she succeeds to her play-

"DOCTORS' WIVES."

WHY THE DIRECTOR
CHOSE!Frank Borzage, the director of "Doctors' Wives," takes himself and his art very seriously. This is his opinion on the subject, the film in general and his leading players:"No sooner was the announcement made that Fox intended filming a dramatic study of love in the medical profession than inquiries began to pour in on me, as the director, regarding the plans."Some of them were wildly against the subject, their objections being based on the fact that the unwritten law governing ethics of the profession should protect it from exposure. They were, of course, wrong for we never intended, in any way, to make an 'ex-posure' or 'confession' story.""Others urged us to proceed on what they considered to be a worthy cause."Needless to say, both factions were wrong. "Doctors' Wives," (coming next Sunday to the King's Theatre), was begun and filmed, solely because of the inherent dramatic worth of the subject.
Drama, and its portrayal, is my art. It is my only consideration when judging material from which I am to tell a story on the screen.
Considered from this viewpoint, the novel, "Doctors' Wives," by Henry and Sylvia Lifshitz attracted me from the very first reading of the powerful story."From the very first moment, Warner Baxter was the only man considered for the part, and was the one actor capable of bringing the characterization to the screen with life-like authenticity.""Nina, however, presented a different problem. Not only did the rôle call for a beautiful, young girl, the characterization to be true to the original, had to be an actress capable of moments of peaceful happiness and repose contrasted the next instant with the extremes of passion and emotion.
Truly a difficult assignment when the choice was so necessarily restricted to a very young actress.""Only after weeks of search did we finally decide upon Joan Bennett for the co-featured rôle of "Nina Wyndham." To her fell the plum that by then had become the dramatic prize coveted by many of Hollywood's younger artists.""The same rigid qualifications were adhered to throughout the casting of "Doctors' Wives," the featured players, Victor Varconi, Helene Milard, Paul Porcasi,
Nancy Gardner, John St. Polis, Cecilia Loftus and the others."ALWAYS GOODBYE."HOW ELISSA LANDI MAKES GOOD!Elissa Landi is an international artist. Born in Venice, educated in England, starred on the London stage, she was featured in her first American film.To make the story complete, Fox Films have raised her to stardom in her second picture, "Always Goodbye," romantic drama showing at the King's Theatre.That the fruits of her earlier years and experiences are reflected in her work is the opinion of critics who seem still at a loss for words to praise her performance in "Body and Soul." But to Miss Landi, the explanation is simple.
She has seen and lived much of life, despite her mere twenty-three years."I have learned to tuck away in the storehouse of my memory every experience I have ever had," said Miss Landi, in reviewing her career.
"In my work for the screen I simply draw on these memories.
Emotional memories I call them."William Cameron Menzies and Kenneth MacKenna co-directed
"Always Goodbye," which features
Lewis Stone, Paul Cavanagh, John Carriek and many other stage and screen celebrities in the brilliant supporting cast.

"UP FOR THE CUP."

BRITISH FILM COMING TO
THE QUEEN'S.It is often written in film press notes that a certain part is "absolutely made" for some actor or actress. When this fact is stated we allow for publicity exaggeration but in "Up for the Cup," the new film showing on Sunday at the Queen's Theatre, Sydney Howard, plays the leading rôle, has a part that suits him perfectly.
Howard was born in Yorkshire and made his name with his droll appearances and "daff" humour.
His rise to prominence on the London West End stage has not been meteoric but justified by real hard work and it is pleasurable to record his success."Up for the Cup" was mostly filmed in Sydney Howard's home town, Yeading, Yorkshire, and his characterisation of a simple-minded mill-hand whose energy turns to invention rather than hard work in the mill is excellent. There is good fun in plenty in this film and its success with lovers of British comedy, is assured.

"GRAND HOTEL."

GRETA HEADS ALL-STAR CAST.Official announcement of the complete cast selected for the filming of Grand Hotel indicates that in placing Vicki Baum's literary and stage success on the screen Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has brought together a most unusual group of players. The names for the new picture suggests that previous rumours about the all-star "Grand Hotel" screen cast were sound, but much too conservative.Greta Garbo, as had been previously announced, will have the rôle of Grusinskaja, the dancer.
John Barrymore will be seen as Baron von Geigen. Joan Crawford will have the part of Flaemmchen, and Wallace Berry that of Proysing, the frenzied financier. Lionel Barrymore will have the rôle of Kringelein, the invalid who ran away for a last fling. Lewis Stone will appear as the shell-shock doctor, and Jean Hersholt as the head clerk in the hotel.In addition to these, the cast will include such featured players as John Miljan, Purnell Pratt, Tully
Marshall, Murray Kinnell, Frank
Conroy, Lennox Pawle, Robert Mo-
Wade, Kathryn Crawford and Ruth Selwyn."Grand Hotel" is being directed by Edmund Goulding, whose recent films include Night Angel, The Trespasser and Devil's Holiday.
The screen adaptation was prepared by Hans Kraly with the assistance of Vicki Baum.The original English stage version of "Grand Hotel," adapted from Vicki Baum's play as presented in Berlin and Vienna, opened in New York, November 13, 1930. After a run of 56 weeks the play closed at the National Theatre, December 5, 1931, and moved to Chicago, where it is now being presented.Production on "Grand Hotel" was delayed a short time until the players whom the studio wanted for the leading rôles would be at liberty. Greta Garbo's last film, "Mata Hari," is now in its third week at Broadway's 5,000-seat Capitol Theatre, while Joan Crawford's most recent release was "Possessed."John and Lionel Barrymore recently completed work (appearing together for the first time on the screen) in Arsene Lupin, while Jean Hersholt just finished work in Emma with Maria Dressler and in the Beast of the City. Lewis Stone's latest rôle was in "Mata Hari."

MUSEUMS—DECAY?

BOARD OF EDUCATION SEEK
A HAPPIER NAME.A museum by any other name would be much more popular, say the Board of Education, and, to support their theory, they publish a pamphlet impressively titled—"A memorandum on the possibility of increased co-operation between public museums and public educational institutions."There is room, it is stated, for a considerable increase in such cooperation, and the lack of it today is due in no small part to the very word "museum." The pamphlet does not suggest any alternative name, but does not mince words in supporting its theory that "museum" is unsatisfactory."Does it not suggest," we are asked, "a depressing, decaying institution, the last resting place of travellers' mementoes and of fossils which have undeservingly survived from ages long ago?"There are in England and Wales more than 400 museums accessible to the public, excluding those solely devoted to pictures.
It is suggested that "travelling museums" and circulating loan collections represent the only means by which the museums can give direct service covering a large proportion of the schools.One other suggestion is to the effect that, wherever possible, glass cases should be opened and pupils permitted to handle the exhibits.
This somewhat epoch-making idea is put forward on the ground that an object in a locked glass case seems "very remote and unreal to many young people."QUEEN'S

HELENA MAY CONCERT.

TALENTED VIOLINIST MAKES HIS BOW.

ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE.

Grieg's Sonata in C minor for violin and piano, is the kind of composition one seldom hears perfectly interpreted by local artists, and, therefore many music lovers who attended last evening's concert at the Helena May Institute, and found that the Sonata was included in the programme, were perhaps a little dubious as to the possible outcome of the venture, even though the pianist was Mr. Bowes-Smith. Mr. V. Derenovsky, the violinist, is quite unknown to Helena May audiences, but faith in Mr. Bowes-Smith's judgement prompted the audience to give the newcomer as warm a reception as they gave their favourite.

Enthusiastic Audience.

At the end of the Sonata the audience was applauding both artists with uncontrolled enthusiasm, for they had heard a most beautiful and difficult work interpreted as by the masters. Mr. Bowes-Smith's work at the piano almost exceeded in excellence his performance at his recent Chopin concert, while Mr. Derenovsky scored a great personal triumph. His bow work was exquisite, his sympathy with the composer was obviously based on a deeper understanding than mere practice of a certain composition can give, and his co-operation with Mr. Bowes-Smith was of a standard that is rarely found outside the realms of the truly great. Without doubt Mr. Derenovsky is a musician of the first order, an artist who loves his instrument, and can draw from it such melody as would gladden the heart of the composer himself.

If in the more difficult passages of the third movement he was for a moment or two not perfectly at ease, his confidence throughout the remainder of the interpretation was all that could be desired. He co-operated with Mr. Bowes-Smith in giving us something to remember and in the thunderous applause that greeted the end of the last movement it was obvious that the Helena May Institute has not seen the last of a really talented violinist.

Pleasing Songs.

The remainder of the programme last evening consisted of a number of songs by Mrs. Lockhart, Mrs. Tetley and Mr. Bailey. Mrs. Tetley, with her charming platform presence, and clear, unvarying voice, was enthusiastically received, while Mrs. Lockhart and Mr. Bailey were very pleasing.

FASHIONS FOR THE Y.M.C.A.
BATH.

The Assistant Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. informed our representative yesterday that as far as he knew the Y.M.C.A. were adhering to the regulation that male non-members, using the swimming bath were not permitted to wear any form of bathing costume at all. Members, however, were permitted to wear a slip if they wished. This, we were told, is the custom of all the Y.M.C.A.'s in America, he believed in Great Britain, and in Shanghai. The Y.M.C.A. has not turned Nudist, and the motive is strictly hygienic. Bits of fluff are detached from bathing clothes and the dye also made the water dirty.

Our representative suggested that the water would be changed fairly often, to which the Assistant Secretary hastily agreed.

"In that case I cannot see that bathing slips would really make the water dirty," said our representative, who added: "I have used swimming baths pretty often, when slips were de rigueur and I never noticed much dirt in the water."

"Ah, but it was there all the same," replied the Assistant Secretary, who added: "I don't think any one will object to the regulation, though there may be a number of purring people who do."

"If a sturdy able seaman produces and puts on a slip what will happen to him? Will summary action be taken?" "Oh, No," replied the Assistant Secretary, "but he will not be allowed to use the bath again."

In reply to a query with regard to the suggestion that bathers in the swimming bath could be seen from the Peninsular Hotel windows, the Secretary agreed that if the mythical lady with the telescope were looking on, that might be true. He did not think there was real cause for complaint in these advanced days.

Further pressed as to the reason for making this curious regulation the explanation amounted to: "Because the Director said so."

LOST AT SEA.

SEQUEL TO PASSENGER'S DISAPPEARANCE.

There was a sequel to a mysterious disappearance of a Chinese passenger from a ship on her way from Vancouver to Hong Kong at the Supreme Court yesterday when Mr. Leo D'Almeida, Jr., appeared before the Chief Justice, Sir Joseph Kemp, and made an application on behalf of Sheung Shi, for leave to aver to the death of her husband, Lam Tak-wa, alias Lam Nui, in order that the might obtain letters of administration regarding the estate.

An affidavit by Ching Hing, cook at the Boston Cafe, Vancouver, was read by counsel. The affidavit was to the effect that Ching Hing left Vancouver on September 9, bound for Hong Kong and on the ship he made the acquaintance of Lam Tak-wa. On October 14, when the vessel was a day and a half from Shanghai, a passenger, who was at the same table as Lam, told him (Ching) that the former had been missing for several hours and that a search for him all over the ship had proved fruitless.

The Master of the vessel, Capt. T. R. Ireland, in an affidavit, said that when Lam was last seen alive there was a strong moon and a heavy sea and he believed that Lam had either jumped overboard or had been blown over and drowned. Sir Joseph Kemp remarked that there was sufficient evidence for him granting leave to swear to the death (dating from the month of October, 1931) and he accordingly made the order.

MOTHER-IN-LAW.

A PERFECT DAUGHTER.

The case, in which Mrs. Farid is suing her husband, M. Farid, of the Union Insurance Society of Canton, for maintenance, was continued before Mr. W. Schofield at Central Magistracy yesterday.

Mr. Geo. K. Hall Brutton was for the complainant and Mr. E. C. S. Brooks defended.

One of the witnesses called yesterday afternoon, who described herself as a distant relative of Mrs. Farid, said that since the proceedings were commenced, she had met the defendant and had spoken about his separation from his wife. Defendant is alleged to have said on that occasion that his door was always open and his wife could walk in whenever she liked. It is also alleged that defendant had refused to ask his wife to return.

Told to Go Away.

Another witness called by the complainant, Mrs. Madar, said that she stayed with the couple for about a month and a half. She described one incident during her stay when she saw the mother-in-law scold the complainant until a late hour in the night. The following morning, the defendant is alleged to have asked his wife why she did not obey his mother. He told her to go away. Witness then went into the back portion of the house and ten minutes later she heard the sound of blows emanating from the defendant's cubicle. She went into the cubicle and found the complainant crying on the bed and the defendant standing over her. The complainant had a red mark on her face.

Mr. Brooks, cross-examining the witness, asked: Would you describe Farid as a cruel man?

Witness: He does not always speak kindly and gently to the complainant. He even shouts at her.

Would you say that he was of a mild disposition?—Not towards his wife. He is mild to us.

A Stern Woman.

Mr. Hall Brutton: Would you describe his mother as a stern woman?—Yes, very stern. Even when the complainant is working the mother-in-law stamps at her with wide-open eyes.

Witness said that during her stay with the Farids, no fewer than five animals were employed, each leaving after a short period.

The mother of the complainant, Mrs. Mina Bux, then gave evidence.

Mr. Hall Brutton: What was your daughter like before her marriage?—She was perfect. (Laughter.)

Mrs. Bux went on to say that her daughter was of a cheerful disposition and was quite happy before her marriage. She looked paler and thinner after her marriage.

Witness related how, on one occasion, she was summoned to the Farid's house following a quarrel. She went there and asked the mother-in-law what had happened. The mother-in-law thereupon referred her to complainant.

Ordered to Obey.

Complainant then said there had been a quarrel and that she had been told to go away. Witness said that when the defendant returned home from work, his wife asked him what he had to say about his mother ordering his wife out of the house. The defendant then replied: "Do what my mother tells you."

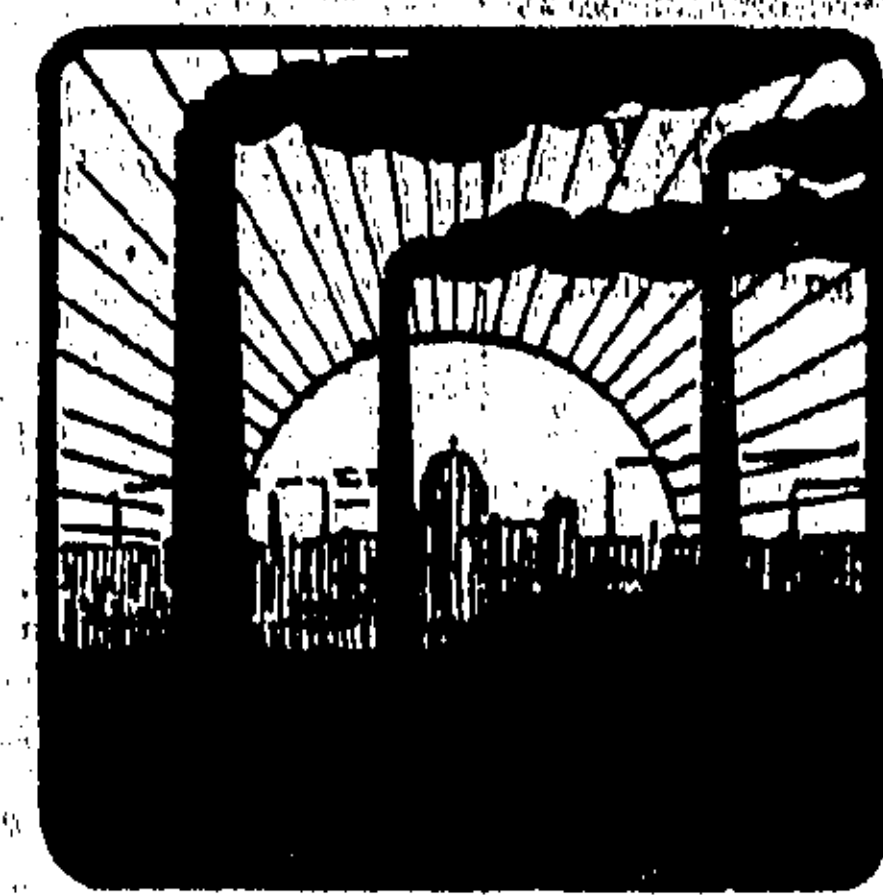

Witness said that on that occasion, with the permission of the mother-in-law, she took her daughter away for a spell of twenty days. After that period she sent her back to her husband, having undertaken that she would go back. The complainant was reluctant to go back.

In answer to a question, under cross-examination by Mr. Brooks, witness said that she agreed that the trouble was mainly because of the mother-in-law, thereupon referred her to complainant.

The case will be continued this afternoon.

The Daily Press

Hong Kong, February 19, 1932.

THE RED MENACE IN CHINA.

In our issue of yesterday we reported from the North-China Daily News a lengthy and important article upon the "Red" menace in China. The author had made careful investigations into Communist activity at Shanghai at the present time and also into the position in the Yangtze Valley. His conclusion is that the "Red" strength has grown enormously both as a result of the devastation and misery caused by the great floods, and since the regular forces have been withdrawn from the anti-Communist campaign to meet the Japanese invasion. At the present moment the Communist agitators in the big towns are exploiting the Sino-Japanese clash to discredit the Chinese Government and the forces that stand for lawful authority. Up country, however, the Communists are quietly consolidating their position. Our Shanghai contemporary states:—"According to reports from Hankow, the 'Reds' are within a few li of the Wuhan cities; where far more concern is felt over their proximity than over the Sino-Japanese clash in Shanghai. An informant recently arrived from the middle-Yangtze area ventured the opinion to the North-China Daily News that the 'Reds' could take Wuhan almost whenever they wanted to. 'But,' he added, 'why should they want to? They would only lose a number of men killed and probably draw upon themselves a lot of unwanted complications. They can extend their power without fighting on account of the rottenness of the soldiery which opposes them. Owing to the fact that they have not been paid, the soldiers won't fight. Most of them lay down their arms when it comes to a battle with the 'Reds,' because they have nothing to fight for."

The "Reds" have a stranglehold on the Han River, and hold big areas in Kiangsi, with headquarters of the "Soviet Republic of China" at Juikun and Yutu. Part of Fukien and the northern border of Kwangtung are also under their control.

The success of the "Reds" has been assisted by corruption in the Chinese Army. Instances are given of defalcations by senior officers and of their unpaid troops refusing to fight the "Reds" and often going over to the enemy. In one case a general accused of embezzling the men's pay was hacked to pieces.

Our own up-country correspondents have, for the past year, given confirmatory news of this increasing menace. In Swatow recently there has been the extraordinary phenomenon of refugees from the Japanese streaming into the interior, and being met by up-country folk flying in fear of their lives from the approaching "Reds." Another correspondent from Kiangsi, with extensive military experience in the Great War, stated a year ago that the "Reds" had created a large and well disciplined army, equal in morale to the best troops in China. They lacked ammunition, but otherwise were well equipped.

What is this movement? In part it consists of the permanently lawless elements. Desolation has, however, driven thousands to join the brigand bands, now inflated to the size of armies. But the movement's increase to the proportions of a national menace follows the adherence of large sections of the left wing of the Kuomintang. The Kuomintang, as Mme. Sun Yat SEN declares with "bitter disillusionment, has been thoroughly militarised and has forsaken the principles of "the Revolution." The Communist Party is now very largely the old Kuomintang in its days of violence and alliance with Russia. It is, of course, possible that the Communist Party will have its own militarists and tricky politicians, that it will even absorb many members of the old gang, and after a stormy beginning the traditional methods of China will prevail and no great harm will be done. This is a comfortable and optimistic attitude. Whether it is likely to be justified is another matter. Communism is dangerous. At the moment it is cleverly exploiting the Sino-Japanese clash for its own ends, and the discrediting and destroying of the present régime would be a great triumph for the forces which Japanese militarism hates and fears and hopes to overthrow.

L.C.C. TRAMCARS.

BLUE-WHITE TO SHOW UP DESTINATION NAMES.

Ten thousand destination lights of a new type have been ordered for L.C.C. tramcars, and already some of them have been fitted to vehicles.

They are daylight lamps giving a hard bluish-white light as compared with the golden glow of the lamps at present in use. The change was made only after great controversy in the Tramways Committee.

There were vigorous arguments. Several times the committee retired to a dark room; where they watched intently the switching on and off of electric signs. "Embankment" read one of the signs, "Highgate" read another.

The new lights were fitted to the destination board of a tram. The committee lined the pavement and watched the tram approach and pass, and then waited for a tram with the ordinary lights.

Visible at Longer Range.

"I can read the destination of the tram with the new lighting at 80 yards, while with the old lighting the destination is hardly distinguishable at 50 yards," declared one member emphatically.

"No," replied another, "there is no difference at all, except that the new lighting is hard and uninviting. Give me the golden light of the lamps of to-day and keep your white ones."

But the vote went for the change.

★ News and Views ★

Tale of the Day.

"Did you mail those two letters I gave you, Norah?"
"Yes'm, at the post office. But I noticed that you'd put the 2-cent stamp on the foreign letter, and the 5-cent stamp on the city one."
"Oh, dear, what a blunder!"
"But I fixed it all right, ma'am, I just changed the addresses on the envelopes."

A Duelling Family.

Ninety-two years ago, Charles William Stewart, third Marquess of Londonderry, "fought" his duel with Henry Gratton the Younger. This duel, which was not the last fought on English soil, completes a unique family record in the history of duelling.

Charles William, who was British Ambassador in Vienna and Petrograd, succeeded his half-brother in the title. The second marquess is better known as Lord Castlereagh of Vienna Congress fame.

Now the great Lord Castlereagh had also fought a duel (in 1809) against no less a person than Canning, who had engineered his fall from power.

Not to be outdone by his father and his uncle, Lord Castlereagh's son fought a duel with a Frenchman called de Meley, thus fulfilling the proverb that all good things go in threes.

Honours Even.

All these duels were fought with pistols. The Castlereagh-Canning encounter took place on Purney Heath. Canning was wounded in the thigh.

The son's duel, provoked by a jealous husband, was fought "on a piece of ground called Wormwood Scrubs." The Englishman, or, strictly speaking, the Irishman, was wounded.

The third marquess, whom Wellington described as "the best-later of what happened as a conference and the writer of the best account of a conversation," fought his duel with Gratton as the result of a political insult.

He behaved with true ambassadorial dignity. Having received his opponent's fire, he discharged his own pistol in the air.

Scotland Yard's Admirable Orichon

Mr. H. Alker Tripp, who has been appointed an Assistant Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, is a prominent example of a man who can combine an outdoor life, a business life and an artistic life and make a success in all three.

He is a fine golfer, but does not bore you with golf "shop." He can paint well, and, although he can, and does, talk with eager enthusiasm about art in general, he is singularly modest and reticent about his own efforts. These are by no means to be despised since he has not only had several pictures well hung at the Royal Academy but has indulged in a one-man show which earned much praise.

He has a passion for the sea and is an expert yachtsman, having sailed in such important craft as Britannia and White Heather.

Four years ago Mr. Tripp succeeded as one of London's traffic advisers. Mr. Sifford Mylius, who had been appointed as far back as 1887.

Santa Claus Sees Stars.

Father Christmas unexpectedly saw stars at a children's party at Reading.

The party was being given to children of the employees of a local firm and the programme included a comedy in which the hero had to hit the head of a villainous farmer who was skulking inside a tent.

The hero, armed with a substantial mallet, came on to the stage before his cue and, seeing a bump outlined beneath the canvas of the tent, rushed with all his might to hit, not a dummy head of wood which was to have received the blow, but the real head of Mr. Elliott, a member of the firm, who was making up as Father Christmas.

Mr. Elliott was unconscious for some time, and another person had to deputise as Santa Claus.

Film Star Adopts a London Orphan.

Miss Constance Bennett, the film star, has decided to adopt three-year-old Dennis Arthur Armstrong, orphan son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Armstrong, of London. Mrs. Armstrong, who was Miss Bennett's cousin, was killed with her husband in a motor accident in London three years ago.

Miss Bennett wanted the child, who has been previously known as Peter Armstrong, to start in life without any knowledge of his past. She has now filed the necessary documents at Los Angeles.

Africa for Emigration.

America now being more or less a closed door for emigrants, it is understood that France is making considerable efforts to attract European recruits for her African Empire. More particularly, she is trying to attract emigrants for Morocco from among the subjects of her allies in Central Europe.

In the hundred years she has been in Algeria, France has raised the European population to a million compared with a native population of six millions.

She hopes to do the same in Morocco, where at present there are only 150,000 Europeans.

The Hong Kong dollar declined half a farthing yesterday and was quoted at 1s. 5.5/16d.

Five cases of small-pox were reported on Wednesday.

A coolie in the employ of Mr. V. M. Grayburn of 357, The Peak, was sent to hospital on Wednesday when he sustained a fractured skull through falling from one of the windows of the house.

According to an advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue, the Hong Kong Electric Co., Ltd., will hold their annual general meeting at the Company's office, P. & O. Building, on Wednesday, March 23, at 11 a.m.

A Chinese lorry driver named Wong Kam Leung will appear before Mr. J. A. Fraser at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning charged with the manslaughter of a truck coolie named Lo Chau at eight o'clock on Wednesday morning in Waterloo Road.

The match on Wednesday between R.A.S.C. and R.E. ended in an eight-wicket victory for the former. In our report of the match, which appeared yesterday, the game was in, inadvertently reported as being between R.A.S.C. and R.E. & Signals.

The police discovered the body of Tain Tai-tai, a Chinese girl aged 18, hanging from a bed post in a cubicle on the third floor of 27, D'Aguiar Street, on Wednesday and removed it to the Mortuary. It was stated that the unfortunate girl had committed suicide.

When he was coming off the French Mail s.s. Andre Lebon, a Chinese named Pun Sze was found to have in his possession three Mauser pistols and 380 rounds of ammunition. As a result, he was brought before the Kowloon Magistrate yesterday, but despite his plea of "not guilty" and his claim that he had no knowledge of the arms and ammunition, he was sent to prison for twelve months with hard labour.

When the Supreme Court sat yesterday, it was found that Lam Hoi-keip and Lam Hoi-ko, who are charged with offering a bribe to a police officer, again failed to appear and on the application of Mr. Hin shing Lo, the case was adjourned until the next Criminal Sessions. Mr. Lo said that the men would jump their bail as it was possible that there would be no evidence offered against one of them. It was more than probable that they were away deep-sea fishing and would return later.

General for Austro-Hungary at this port during the absence of Mr. Adolf Andra.

The personal estate of the late Mr. Andrew Jardine, of Lanrick Castle, Perthshire, and Corrie, Dumfriesshire, and of the firm of Messrs. Matheson & Co., has been sworn by one of his executors under the sum of £1,371.00.

We hear that a project is on foot for supplying the electric light to some of the ports in China. A company, we believe, is in process of formation, and will be launched shortly. Hong Kong and Shanghai will be the first to be treated, but eventually we understand some of the other ports will also be supplied with the light.—Hong Kong Daily Press, February 19, 1932.

History of the War Office.

Sir Reginald Brade, who was Permanent Secretary to the War Office from 1914 to 1920, has now completed the account of the functions of that department (with a brief history of their development) on which he has been engaged, in the intervals of other works, for the last few years.

Sir Reginald's long career in Whitehall began as far back as 1884. He was the most distinguished Permanent Secretary, and he served all through the war. His volume, which goes to press shortly, will be a record of real value.

By Stroke of Sword.

Sir Oswald Mosley, who is still in Rome, recently had two ambitions: to test his skill against the leading Fascist swordsmen and to fence his way into Mussolini's presence.

The modern Searamouche has succeeded in both his endeavours. During his stay in Rome he has fenced hard and often, gaining much valuable experience and impressing the Fascist experts with his prowess. (He is, in fact, one of the best swordsmen in England.)

As a reward he has been received by Mussolini. In spite of this militant introduction, the Duke showed himself a man of peace. His conversation was confined to questions about the political situation in England and to the expression of views about an international understanding on reparations.

A Bournemouth Beer Garden.

The beer garden idea has been sanctioned by Bournemouth Licensing magistrates. An application was before them to add to the licensed area of the Athlete Arms Hotel, Southbourne, and adjoining plot of land, which it is proposed to use for the service of teas, coffee or intoxicants.

"People using the house might wish to take their refreshments in the garden in sight of persons passing by," said Mr. E. H. Bone, for the applicants. "There will be no secret drinking places or 'nugs,' he added.

Mr. W. H. Duell (a magistrate): But the trees will grow up.

Mr. Bone: They will shelter guests from the sun rather than obscure them from the view of the police.

PEACE PARLEY ENDS IN DEADLOCK

JAPAN'S DEMANDS INTOLERABLE UNACCEPTABLE BY CHINA JAPAN PRESENTS ULTIMATUM

WITHDRAWAL PERIOD ENDS SUNDOWN, SATURDAY

CHINESE ERECTING STRONG DEFENCES
IN INTERIOR

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18, 9.34 p.m.
TODAY'S MEETING BETWEEN CHINESE AND JAPANESE DELEGATES HAS BROKEN UP IN A DEADLOCK. THE JAPANESE DELEGATES, MAJOR-GENERAL TASHIRO AND CHIEF OF STAFF LIEUT. GENERAL UYEDA, MADE THE FOLLOWING DEMANDS, NAMELY:—

THE PERMANENT DISMANTLING OF THE WOO-SUNG AND PAOSHAN FORTS.

THE PERMANENT WITHDRAWAL OF ALL CHINESE TROOPS TO TWENTY KILOMETRES FROM SHANGHAI ON BOTH SIDES OF THE WHANGPOO RIVER AND TWENTY KILOMETRES FROM THE MOUTH OF THE WHANGPOO RIVER.

THE CHINESE GENERAL FAN, CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE NINETEENTH ROUTE ARMY, SAID HE WAS TOTALLY UNABLE TO ACCEPT THESE TERMS.

CHINESE OFFICIALS STATE THAT THE "JAPANESE CONDITIONS ARE INTOLERABLE AND ABSOLUTELY UN-ACCEPTABLE."

THUS TO-DAY'S FORLORN HOPE OF AVERTING MAJOR HOSTILITIES AROUND THE SETTLEMENT ARE VANISHING AND IT IS NOW RELIABLY UNDERSTOOD THAT BEFORE 9 P.M. THE JAPANESE DEMANDS WILL BE PRESENTED IN THE FORM OF AN ULTIMATUM, GIVING A TWENTY-FOUR HOURS' TIME LIMIT FOR THE CHINESE WITHDRAWAL BEFORE LAUNCHING A BIG OFFENSIVE.

ULTIMATUM PRESENTED

AT 9.45 P.M. A COMMUNICATION, PRESUMED TO BE THE JAPANESE ULTIMATUM, WAS CARRIED BY THE JAPANESE VICE-CONSUL AND A STAFF MAJOR AND PRESENTED AT THE OFFICE OF MAYOR WU TEH CHENG ADDRESSED TO GENERAL TSAI OF THE NINETEENTH ROUTE ARMY.

 - (6) JAPANESE RESERVE THE LIBERTY TO ACT IF THE ABOVE MENTIONED DEMANDS ARE NOT ACCEPTED.

CHINESE DETERMINED TO RESIST

NANKING, February 18.

THAT CHINA IS DETERMINED TO RESIST EVERY INCH OF JAPANESE ADVANCE INTO CHINA IS INDICATED BY THE FACT THAT A NETWORK OF TRENCH SYSTEMS ARE BEING CONSTRUCTED ALL ALONG THE TIENTSIN-PUKOW AND LUNGKAI RAILWAYS FOR A THOUSAND MILES, WHILE CHINESE LEADERS SHOW THE FIRMEST DETERMINATION TO GRIMLY RESIST A JAPANESE ADVANCE WHEREVER IT IS FORTHCOMING.

CHINESE AND JAPANESE CONFER

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18, 1 p.m.

The Japanese ultimatum to the Chinese authorities demanding the immediate withdrawal of the Nineteenth Route Army has not yet been presented.

A meeting is going on in a private house in the French Concession between Chinese and Japanese delegates, this being the first occasion on which the combatants have been brought together since the truce meetings at the British Consulate a fortnight ago. To-day's meeting gives colour to the hope that a compromise will be effected to enable an eleventh hour escape for Shanghai from the impending catastrophe of major hostilities, which would have terrible consequences the nature of which it is impossible to foresee.

The parley is being attended only by the Chinese and Japanese delegates. No representatives of the foreign Powers are concerned in the negotiations.

NETWORK OF TRENCHES

NANKING, Feb. 18.

A traveller, who has just arrived from Loyang, declares that he saw a network of trench systems extending northward from Pukow to Hsuehchowfu, and from Hsuehchowfu westward to Loyang. Everything, he said, indicated that the military leaders are working in co-operation and were determined to resist any possible Japanese advance, not only at Shanghai but throughout China.

"POLITICAL" DIPHTHERIA?

NANKING, Feb. 18.

Feng Yu Hsiang is seriously ill with diphtheria at Hsuehchowfu. His temperature last night was 105 degrees.

His close associates declare that his extraordinarily powerful constitution and will power are helping him to bear up and that he is confident that he will pull through, so much so that he intends proceeding to Pukow, the first station north of Pukow, in order to confer with Chiang Kai Shek, Wang Ching Wei and Li Tsai Hsin.

CANADIAN AVIATORS OFFER SERVICES

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.

Eighty members of the Royal Canadian Airforce, victims of the economy axe, conferred with the Chinese Consul-General, to-day, offering their services to the Chinese Airforce.

INFERNAL MACHINE EXPLODES IN M.B.K. OFFICES

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18.

At 8 o'clock this morning, the central district in the Settlement was startled by a terrific explosion which occurred in the door way of the Szechuen Road offices of the M.B.K., shattering all the windows and blowing in the entrance. Parts of the door being blown through the hall out of the building's back door.

All the windows of the Chinese Telegraph Administration Offices, on the opposite side of the street, were also shattered.

Several Chinese pedestrians were in the street at the time; one being killed and four injured.

The street is simply littered with glass.

It is believed that an infernal machine had been placed in the doorway with a time fuse.

AMERICAN FEAR

[REUTERS' AMERICAN SERVICE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.

The killing of British bluejackets in Shanghai has intensified the anxiety in official circles, where the incident is regarded as the first of many that are likely to arise from continued heavy fighting.

The possible claim for damages which will arise if the Sino-Japanese clash involves the International Settlement has been the subject of informal discussions for more than a week between Japanese officials and the State Department.

AMERICA'S OBJECTION

It is emphasized that the United States Government does not object to the quartering, in the International Settlement, of such Japanese troops as are necessary for the protection of Japanese lives and property, but it does object to the use of the Settlement as a base for attacks into Chinese territory.

A PROMISE GIVEN

Since the incidents in which several Chinese were killed or wounded by shells which dropped behind the lines held by the American forces in Shanghai, the Japanese have given an assurance to the commander-in-chief of the U.S. Asiatic Fleet, Admiral Taylor, that the firing of shells into the sector held by American marines will be stopped.

BRITISH PROTEST

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

LONDON, Feb. 17.

The action of the Japanese in dropping bombs upon a factory in the 11th instant, was the subject of questions in the House of Commons to-day.

Mr. Wallhead asked whether the Foreign Minister was taking steps "to protest against this breach of international law and to prevent its recurrence."

Sir John Simon, in reply, quoted the statement made by the Japanese Admiral to the United States Consul-General, Mr. Edwin Cunningham, regarding the incident.

He added that no action by His Majesty's Government was, therefore, required.

RELIEF CAMP BOMBING

Mr. Wallhead also drew attention to Sir John Hope-Simpson's protest against the bombing of the flood relief camp in Shanghai and asked whether His Majesty's Government thought it necessary to protest to the Japanese Government against that.

Sir John Simon replied that Sir John Hope-Simpson's telegram was received by the League Authorities at Geneva on Saturday and would, of course, be dealt with by them.

REMARKABLE FORECAST

LONDON, Feb. 17.

The relations between the Nanking and Tokyo Governments were discussed at a gathering of the National Peace Council.

The principal speaker, Sir Frederick Whyte, was absent, unwell, but his notes were read by the chairman.

Sir Frederick Whyte emphasised that it behoved the rest of the world to make sure that the actions of Japan were not permitted to prejudice Chinese sovereignty or to close the "open door" in the face of other nations.

Professor Arnold Toynbee forecast a long war of attrition, in which the Japanese would win all the sensational victories, but would finally exhaust themselves and have to get out.

INDEPENDENCE OF MANCHURIA DECLARED

SEVERENCE OF RELATIONS WITH KUOMINTANG

DECLARATION BY CHANG CHING HUEI

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

MUKDEN, February 18.

CHANG CHING HUEI, TO-DAY, MADE A PROCLAMATION DECLARING THE INDEPENDENCE OF THE FOUR NORTH-EASTERN PROVINCES AND THE HARBIN AREA, AND SEVERING ALL RELATIONS WITH THE GOVERNMENT UNDER THE KUOMINTANG.

PU YI MAY BE ELECTED EMPEROR

MUKDEN, Feb. 18.

Emperor of Tachung, "in accordance with the wish of the people."

"MUST BE INDEPENDENT"

TOKYO, Feb. 18.

"Japan is not considering its recognition unless it is proved that it has all the attributes of an independent state," declared a Foreign Office spokesman when commenting on Press reports from Mukden, announcing the formation of an independent Manchurian state.

According to Press despatches, the Government will be "midway between a republic and a monarchy," with a lifetime chief executive, but reports of the extent of the area embraced are conflicting, though it is indicated it will include, at least, the provinces of Mukden, Kirin, Heilungkiang and Jehol, each of which is autonomous.

LEAGUE'S APPEAL TO JAPAN

TOKYO OFFICIALS PEEVED: NOTE MAY BE IGNORED

COUNCIL ACTION CONSIDERED HIGHLY IRREGULAR

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

TOKYO, February 18.

LIKE the vernacular papers, official reaction to the League's appeal appears to be resentment that it is directed solely to Japan as this is interpreted as prejudging Japan in the wrong. The course to be followed has not yet been decided. But as the whole procedure is considered highly irregular it seems probable that no reply will be sent, but that instead a statement will be issued clarifying Japan's stand.

"OPPORTUNE, COOL AND SENSIBLE" PRODUCT

LONDON, Feb. 18.

Amid divided counsels there is at least, a big nucleus of agreement that the events in Shanghai will not much longer be allowed to drift. Sir John Simon, whose hand is detected by many in the League Note, earns widespread approval for his "opportunity," "cool" and "sensible" action, the product of an incisive legal mind narrowing the latitude for evasion prior to the formulation of concrete remedies.

Some trepidation naturally is betwixt the summoning of the Assembly would have the effect of enthrone "Powers" (by virtue of their number) without specialisation, knowledge or interests in the Far East producing rhetorical fireworks, among which the realities would be obscured.

There is undoubted hope that Nanking will solve the problem by a disposition to treat before the present hull has transformed into renewed hostilities.

The boycotts from which Britain suffered in the past are recalled by opponents to British embolism, like the Morning Post and the Daily Mail.

Dwindling Japanese Friendship.

On the contrary the chorus which demands a "strong hand" is clearly growing in volume and is an indication of the veering sympathies of some previous friends of Japan, particularly since using the International Settlement as a base of operation.

The Times is among these and writes:—Japan is entitled to expect more satisfaction than that China has been prepared to give, but public opinion regretted that Japan did not take the League into her confidence and has alienated its sympathies by her methods of terrorism. "Japan, especially the military authorities are mistaken if they imagine the comparative moderation of the protests so far made, represents the last word of the League and Powers with definite palpable interests in China."

Case for Immediate Action.

The case for immediate action is pitifully put in a letter to the Times, the signatories being Cecil Salter, Addis Arthur Haworth, A. D. Lindsay and Gilbert Murray, contending that, submission to "military dictatorship" by Japan in the Far East will have disastrous repercussions in India and elsewhere in the Empire, and urging Britain to secure American co-operation, and the League to exert diplomatic and economic pressure to compel Japan to respect the collective system and sanctity of treaties.

The Daily Herald's Geneva correspondent states that the impression is growing that Japan plans to do some kind of deal over Shanghai, if thereby she can get away with it in Manchuria.

America Protecting Her Interests.

The Daily Telegraph emphasises that apparently America is not associating herself directly with the League's Note, but is carefully confining her representations for the protection of the interests of her own nationals.

Washington Disturbed.

New York, Feb. 18.

The State Department is disturbed. According to the New York Times, by an unofficial report that the Japanese reply to the League appeal will be to maintain the (Continued on Page 12).

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

GERMANY SUBMITS HER
PROPOSALS

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

LONDON, Feb. 18.

A large measure of agreement to was shown by the German disarmament proposals, which Herr Rudolf Nidehoff presented to a full meeting of the Conference this morning. They include the abandonment of conscription; abolition of submarines, aircraft carriers, tanks, chemical and bacteriological warfare. He urged also the prohibition of forts near frontiers; prohibition of heavy artillery outside fortresses; limitation of the calibre of fortress guns and mortars.

The Naval proposals include a maximum of 10,000 tons capital ships and the limitation of cruisers and destroyers.

Limitation of expenditure and a system of controlling armaments, equally applicable to all Powers.

ACTION AGAINST BRITISH GOVT.

EGYPTIANS CLAIM FOR
TRACING MURDERERS

(Reuters' Special Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 18.

An action is being brought against the British Government for £27,000, being "the reward to which he is entitled" by an Egyptian, named Helhawi, who greatly assisted the authorities in tracing the murderers of Sir Lee Stack in 1924.

Helhawi received £10,000 for his services, the reward which the Government offered at the time.

SCOTTISH CUP DRAW.

The replay in the Scottish Cup match between Kilmarnock and Dundee United was decided in favour of Kilmarnock, who, scoring three goals to nil, shared in the draw for the fourth round which was made after the game.

A feature of the draw for the fourth round, which will be played on March 5, was that Glasgow Rangers, who have been heroes of many Cup fights, are to meet the strongest opposition, since their opponents will be Motherwell, who are leaders in the Scottish League with the Rangers close behind them.

The following is the draw:—

A. L. SULLIVAN QUALIFIES FOR THIRD ROUND.

M. W. LO SHOWING PROMISING FORM.

As in the previous days, the favourites won their matches in the Open Singles Championships that were played off on the Club ground last evening when quite a large crowd turned out to watch the games.

A. L. Sullivan, the "white hope," made further progress in the competition and now enters the third round by virtue of a comparatively easy win over A. A. White. There were altogether eight matches but that between Y. Segalen and Lu Tak Lam turned out to be such a "pat-ball" affair that it had to be called off after each player had won a set. It will be decided at some later date.

M. W. Lo, a former champion, showed good form and beat Firdos Khan by 6-1, 6-1. The latter was completely outplayed by Lo whose form indicates that he will make a bold bid to regain the title he lost two years ago.

Yesterday's Results.

THE AUSTRALIANS.

HOW SOME OF THE BEST PONIES ARE SHAPING.

ZADDERDAY IN GREAT FORM.

[By "MORNING DEW."]

There are two races to-morrow for Australian ponies and no doubt the new batch will show fans just what they can do in the Sydney Maiden Stakes which is divided into two sections, the first for ponies of 14 hands and under and the second for 14 hands 1 inch and over.

In the former class, Zadderday is going great guns at the early morning gallops and shows plenty of promise. Whatever happens, Zadderday is sure to be prominent in the first of the Sydney Maidens. Chief opposition is likely to come from Manna, a brown animal of fourteen hands belonging to Mr. A. M. L. Soares, which will be Mr. Nood's mount.

Mr. Dyer's Changie, also, is a good candidate, but the pony was a little out of condition during training and has not had sufficient time to make up for the loss of training, otherwise, he is as good as any of them. Of the place-getters in the first sections, any of the following might come in:—Anniversary Eve, Joaquim, Senorita, The Widgeon and Rotha.

The Second Sydney Maidens.

There are 31 entries in the second Sydney Maiden Stakes. Over six furlongs, a class field of sprinters may easily provide an upset, but assuming nothing untoward happens and none of the favourites are left, I should say the winner will come from the following:—City of Melbourne, Lucy Glitters, Gold digger, Palaverer, Season Ticket, Taiping, The Baron, Sunlight and Wotin.

Of those selected, City of Melbourne did a fast gallop on Wednesday, as did Palaverer and Lucy Glitters. The Baron and Taiping have always been consistent in their exercises, but although they are good, the six furlongs does not appear to suit them. Season Ticket and Sunlight are obviously sprinters and ought to be there at the kill in the Maidens.

LOCAL HOCKEY.

C.B.A. TEAM FOR TO-DAY.

The following will represent the C.B.A. in their tournament match against the Royal Corps of Signals on their own ground at King's Park this afternoon:—

G. Duncan, L. W. Tittle, C. L. Gregory, N. Whitley, D. Davies, S. MacNider, W. H. G. Hirst, T. S. D. Whitley, C. C. Francis, W. G. Johnson and J. P. White. Reserves: A. Philippens and M. Weill.

Wednesday's Games.

On Wednesday the Hong Kong Hockey Club took on the Jets who won by the margin of two goals to nil, while the game between Club de Recrio and Radio Sports Club resulted in a 3-1 win for the former.

STRAIGHT TO THE LUNGS.

PEPS—THE GREAT BREATHE-ABLE REMEDY FOR THROAT AND BRONCHIAL TROUBLES.

For generations famous physicians and specialists in respiratory diseases have grappled with the problem whereby a natural healing agent could be conveyed direct into the lungs. At last, in the discovery and perfection of the remedy known as PEPs, the problem is solved. Peps are unique in that they are a real breatheable treatment in handy, tablet form. Their efficacy in throat, chest and lung troubles is demonstrated by the world-wide demand for Peps.

The healing and germicidal properties in Peps are highly volatile and every tablet is separately sealed in a silver jacket. When stripped of this preserving wrapper and dissolved in the mouth, Peps release the volatile oils they contain in the form of fumes. Mixing with the inspired air, these Peps fumes are carried with the breath through the bronchial tract into the lungs. Liquid mixtures swallowed into the stomach never touch the real trouble.

Peps quickly soothe the throat, allay any soreness or inflammation and heal the delicate air-tubes. Peps free the breathing, and comfort and strengthen the entire bronchial system. For coughs, colds, chills, sore throat, bronchitis, asthma, night or early-morning cough, etc., Peps are the indispensable remedy. Sold in handy sealed bottles by chemists and dispensaries everywhere. Agents:—Messrs. Gilman & Co., Ltd., 4A, Des Vaux Road, Hong Kong.

BE UP AND DOING!

Don't give in to headaches and "nerves"! Don't let the heat and humidity ruin your health and spoil your happiness. Always keep a bottle of Genasprin handy—it's a woman's best friend in the East. For Genasprin, the pure and therefore safe brand of aspirin, is wonderful for relieving all sorts of pain, and giving you and your children deep, restful sleep and for soothing your nerves. Bealder, Genasprin leaves no bad after-effects whatever and retains its power in spite of repeated administration.

"Without the slightest risk." A famous Doctor wrote in "The Medical Times":—"What chiefly distinguishes Genasprin from the numerous other brands is the fact that, owing to its absolute purity, it can be prescribed much more freely than those without the slightest risk of toxic symptoms. The frequent use of small doses of Genasprin affords effective relief from pain, produces no nausea or other reaction, does not create a habit or craving, retains its power in spite of repeated administration, causes no disturbance of digestion and is not dissolved by the gastric juices but expelled from the body with considerable speed."

CRICKET NOTES AND PROSPECTS.

ALARMS AND EXCURSIONS AT THE VALLEY.

THE USUAL MIRACLE: NAVY'S VICTORY OVER C.C.C.

It has become a truism that it is the unexpected which always happens, and in no case does it happen more regularly than in that of Cricket. When last week I wrote in my notes that it seemed that the only danger for Craigen-gower was that there might be a draw, I added, however, that there might be a miracle, and nothing less would be necessary to bring about a Naval victory. I wrote this because I suddenly recollected that last year, I think, the Navy in face of all probability beat the powerful K.C.C. team on the K.C.C. ground and settled, once and for all their chance of winning the shield.

Defeat May Lose Shield.

This year once more the Senior Service has sprung a surprise on us and has, in all probability altered the destination of the Shield. For Craigen-gower are now but three points up on the I.R.C. against a potential six points. In actual fact there was no fluke of luck in the game. I do not know if the Navy won the toss or whether Zimmern put them in, but I am pretty sure he would have done so had he won. The unexpected feature was the excellent stand put up by Watson and Mundy. The truth is Craigen-gower have only two bowlers. Omar and Bob Lee have brought them through their last three games brilliantly and saved them against the Civil Service when the other Valley side had only to get a beggarly twenty runs to win. But last Saturday they failed to come off, although they each got a wicket early in. Then the two Navy batsmen established complete superiority. Both of them are possessed of a very long reach and they made full use of it on what seemed to me rather a dead wicket. Both met the ball hard with the full face of the bat, and by the time Watson was out, it was clear that Craigen-gower were going to have the very device of a job to pull the game off. But Skyrme, who succeeded got really going for the first time this season and rattled up a half-century, while Mundy completed his hundred.

Sporting Chance.

Finally, when the Navy set C.C.C. two hundred and fifty two runs to get in about two hours it seemed more or less a question of whether it would be a Navy win or a draw. I am told (I did not see the innings), that the first C.C.C. batsmen went for the runs. It was perhaps ultra-sporting as there was no reasonable chance of their getting at the rate of over 125 runs an hour for two consecutive hours. I don't consider it would have been unsporting to have played for a draw under the circumstances, and a single point might be simply invaluable when one comes to add up at the end of the season. Anyway they had a go and after Lim, Gittins and Zimmern had gone with less than sixty runs to their total aggregate it was hopeless. The batting was weakened by the absence of Hanson and only the gallant batting of N. B. Kitchell and F. K. Lee saved the side from collapse. As it was they got a hundred and sixty-four, which one might remark in passing, is usually a match-winning score these days. Stephens and Prior are two new bowlers whom the Navy may find useful.

Another Tie!

The C.S.C.C. seem to have a genius for playing tied games. Their match against the University was simply full of thrills and fluctuations. The start with the home team who won the toss collapsed completely, as they nearly always do when they are out in the first over. Richardson saw six wickets fall for thirty-three of which he and Extras had made about twenty. Then Ben Evans joined the Vice-Captain and played a regular skipper's innings. They both hung on grimly and runs began to come faster, and Mr. Extras backed them up nobly. When Richardson was bowled by a quick off-turner from Anderson Ling went in and hit merrily for sixteen and altogether a hundred and forty was scored.

Varsity Start Badly.

The University shaped none too well at the start as McLeellan had them all tied up and, at thirty-three, four wickets were down. Again it proved a fatal number, for E. L. Gosano, who had bowled very well, hit very hard and straight while A. E. Lee played steadily. The hundred went up and all seemed over when Evans took a red-hot drive at mid-off from Gosano, and shortly after Lee was caught by Griffiths behind mid-off, off Baker who had changed ends. Then it rather resembled a dog-fight runs coming steadily and wickets falling rapidly. The scores were level when Baker bowled the last ball of the over which Samy hit at and missed. Wood, standing back, took it, and the match seemed over when the batsmen suddenly started to run. Wood was so surprised that instead of running up to his own wicket and putting it down, he threw it to the bowler's end.

A Mix-up.

Baker had walked away towards cover and rushed back in time to collide with Hamilton, who had backed up the wicket, and fell on top of him just as he was taking the ball. At this moment Norman-bhoy elected to try and got back while Samy went on and both made for the bowler's wicket which was partially obscured by outlying portions of Baker and Hamilton. Neither of the latter could reach the ball which lay perfectly quietly by the popping crease. Evans, however, showed a captain's coolness by walking round the kicking coocon which surrounded the wicket and threw the ball to the other end where the wicket was broken just before Samy, who had got tired of the other end, got back. He had completed all but two runs, but as Normanbhoy had never got across to the other end no runs were scored and the match was a tie.

An Excellent Result.

As a matter of fact there could not have been a better decision. It was a most sporting and enjoyable match and the teams were very evenly matched. If anything the pitch improved during the course of the play. The light too lasted fairly well and this reminds me I am told that a resolution of the league was passed, striking ten minutes from the official times printed. I think the ten interval was abolished. Anyway, the official time for February is 6.05 p.m. Now as neither C.S.C.C. nor The University are likely to be near the head of the table it does not really matter, but actually the game went on, by agreement between the Captains. I fancy the true result should be a draw. As I have said, in this case it does not matter. But supposing that to-morrow the Indians should secure a win by playing after 6.05 p.m. while C.C.C. should fail to secure one by stopping at that the regulation hour? Or vice versa? It would obviously be all wrong, if we have rules we ought to stick to them. To my mind when the breaking of a fixed rule is the question it cannot be true sportsmanship to break it.

The Club Draws.

The Gunners had borrowed the Navy ground last Saturday and played a draw with the Club. Armstrong, Beck, who went in first wicket for a change, and Owen Hughes all got runs and the Club declared at 162, and took a sporting chance. In spite, however, of some excellent bowling by Alan Reid, whose figures of 11-1-43-3 in no way do him justice, they could not force a win. Musson failed with the bat but Combe played a most useful knock of forty odd, while Wolfe-Barry and Capt. Barry also got into the twenties.

but if they do not I do not see any reasonable hope for them. The third League game is between K.C.C. at home and the Civil Service. The latter will not be at their full strength, I learn, and I rather expect the K.C.C. to win.

The Laws of Cricket.

I had intended starting 'in on a few special points, but I fancy the Editor has a lot of his young men writing about those curious animals that interfere so with the golfers, or is it the golfers that interfere with them?—so I had better postpone them.

R. ABBIE.

To-morrow's Games.

I have just referred above to the two most important matches in the First League to-morrow. The Club journey to Soe' Kun Poo and will have to do a lot better than they have been doing if they are going to win. They may very well make a draw of it, however. I don't know whether the fact that it is the first day of the Races will make any difference to their side. It is very important for the Indians to win, but still more so Craigen-gower need a definite win at Pok-fulan. They have a fair chance of the shield still if they get one, but if they do not I do not see any reasonable hope for them.
